

RETTIG ICC ACQUIRES THE DESIGN BUSINESS OF QUINN RADIATORS LTD

Rettig ICC have acquired the 'design business' of Quinn Radiators Ltd. The acquisition incorporates all three of the Quinn Decorative Steel Tubular brands, intellectual property, stock, customer lists, production assets and includes all of their activities within the heating sector. The product range incorporates all design products but excludes their basic panel radiator business (Round-Top and Compact).

Quinn Radiators Ltd operated with three strong design brands: Barlo, Design by QRL and Merriott. They will now be integrated into the Rettig ICC brand portfolio alongside our existing brands.

The acquisition of this business confirms Rettig ICC as a leader in the decorative radiator market. It complements our leading position within multiple product categories and is aligned with our growth strategy. Rettig ICC are committed to quickly re-establishing the Quinn design business with all of its customers and in all relevant markets. The re-established production and supply of goods commenced on Monday 22nd July 2019.

Rettig ICC has 3 core strengths:

- Stable long-term family ownership
- Unrivalled and extensive product range delivering integrated heating solutions
- Long-term commitment of our people

In conjunction with these core strengths, this investment enhances an already extensive product portfolio and provides additional key strategic manufacturing capability, delivering a world class proposition for our valued customers.
